Maths Notes

Differentiation

Differentiation gets the gradient function of a function.

1.1   First Principles

You can find an accurate gradient for a point on a curve by using a very small distance of x (δx), finding the y values at each point, and taking them away from each other to get δy, and then dividing $\frac{\delta y}{\delta x}$